ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The latest UNT Economic Research Group study reveals the significant economic benefits of development projects near DART light rail stations.

In the 25 years since UNT first began its studies, development within a quarter mile of DART's light rail stations has resulted in a $18.1 billion direct impact

In 2022-2024, there were 37 development projects within one-quarter mile of DART light rail stations. These projects result in:

- A $1.0 billion direct impact and $1.9 billion total economic impact.
- Creation of 5,295 jobs, and total employment creation of 9,422 jobs, adding up to $724.2 million in labor income for workers in the region.
- 10% and 12.6% rent premiums for residential and commercial properties, respectively.

These projects created $51.5 million in construction-related state and local sales tax revenue and resulted in ongoing property tax and sales tax revenue to benefit local communities.

The DART TIRZ Interlocal Agreement (ILA) provides all cities with another tool to leverage future sales tax growth to support economic development. This program was developed in cooperation with service area cities and ILAs will be provided for execution.

ROWLETT/DART MEETINGS

DART works closely with each member city to identify service improvements, support economic development opportunities, promote community events, address concerns, review the budget, and improve overall mobility in our region.

Below is a sample of discussion topics and meetings from the past two years. This is an example of the work DART does with each of its cities, not an exhaustive list.

Strategic Plan: DART's new 10-year vision to move the agency from Point A to Point B. Included a confidential interview with each city manager and a follow-up meeting with the city manager and mayor to discuss the city's strategic goals and alignment with DART's vision.

Area Plans: A city-specific program aimed at creating a continuous feedback loop between each city and DART. Area Plans outline each city's short- and long-term mobility goals.

City Manager Working Groups: A series of meetings from September 2024 through July 2025 to discuss key issues and identify a path to solving them, based on discussions with city managers, mayors, and their DART Board representatives.

Budget meetings: DART meets annually with its cities to review the proposed annual budget and 20-year financial plan, answer any questions, and collect feedback for the DART Board before budget adoption.
